

Radiofrequency Ablation

You have just had a Radiofrequency Ablation which is where we have burned nerve endings.

*You will have increased pain due to the nerve's that have been burned and are sore and healing.

*This may last for 2-3 weeks.

*You can put an ice pack on the site for relief NOT HEAT.

*You may also have the sensation of a sun burn or itching.

*You can rub lotion on the site for relief of that.

If you have pain medication continue to take it as directed, if you need to take more, you must call the office first to let your doctor know.

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to call our office.
